Experience one of the highlights of the Washington BDR on this 80-mile loop that crosses Slide Ridge and the Chelan Mountains in Section 4 of the WABDR.

We suggest starting in the town of Entiat where you can gas up and purchase any provisions you'll need for your ride. Running the loop clockwise is recommended and will begin with a scenic ride up the paved Entiat River Road. Soon after you'll pass Cooper's General Store in Ardenvoir and head north on NF-5300 and begin the ascent up into the Chelan Mountains. The road climbs to 6100 feet on the shoulder of Stormy Mountain on the crest of the range. From there you'll traverse Slide Ridge on NF-8410 with incredible views of Lake Chelan. The road then descends on switchbacks to Twenty-Five Mile Creek State Park on the shore of Lake Chelan. The park has a campground as does Lake Chelan State Park down South Lakeshore Road. Your return to Entiat will take you south on Highway 971 and then Highway Alt-97.

From Seattle and the Puget Sound area, it's about a three-hour ride via either Interstate 90 or Highway 2.
